

Dr. Evangelos Angelopoulos is an adjunct industrial researcher in the Institute of Nanoscience & Nanotechnology of NCSR Demokritos and the CEO and Business Development Director of an R&D sensor manufacturing company, Fuelics. His company has made a name in the IoT world by providing battery operated sensors with intrinsic edge computing capabilities.