

Francesco Buonocore, staff researcher of the DTE-ICT-HPC laboratory of ENEA. His research interests are on theoretical investigations based on ab-initio calculations of physical properties of nanomaterials and mesoscopic structures, with particular regard to molecular films, carbon-based materials, and interfaces. He is the leader of the materials for energy scientific challenge in the EoCoE project.