

Alberto Figoli is Director of the Institute on Membrane Technology – National Research Council of Italy (CNR-ITM), Rende (CS) Italy, since 1st March 2019. He received the degree in Food Science and Technology from the University of Milan (Italy) in March 1996. He carried out a working experience at the Research Group of Quest International (Unilever) in Naarden (NL), May-December 1996. In May 1997, he started his PhD degree at Membrane Technology Group, Twente University (Enschede, NL), and he got the PhD degree in October 2001.

Since December 2001 to February 2019, he was researcher at the Institute on Membrane Technology (CNR-ITM) in Rende (CS, Italy). He has been elected in the board of the European Membrane Society (EMS) and he was responsible for Awards and Summerschool (2015-2017) and Secretary of the Society (2017-2019). He is involved in several international and national projects, as ITM-CNR scientific coordinator and/or participant. He is author of more than 200 scientific papers and chapters published in international journals and 3 International patents on membrane technology. He is Editor of 6 books and several special issues on membrane science and technology.